- a secure system, which allows backflow accredited plumbers who have registered for an account to access the system using a unique user id and password.
- No fees or costs to the users for the service.
- Ability to personalise the reports with your own business details.
- Ability to access information on existing backflow prevention containment devices currently registered on our system.
- A quick, efficient process that will save money and time for users by reducing the administration costs, such as purchase of test books and postage.
